Medieval Normandy

In 911, the Treaty of Saint-Clair-sur-Epte marked the foundation of Normandy. William the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy, born in Falaise to become King of England in 1066 after his victory at the Battle of Hastings. The fabulous Bayeux Tapestry tells the story of his epic adventure. In Caen, the castle and two abbeys bear witness to his era and civilisation. Richard the Lionheart, his great great grandson, reigned for 10 years. The story of Joan of Arc is tragically associated with that of Rouen, where her trial was held. The Maid of Orleans perished at the stake, installed in the town's Place du Vieux Marché.

Heritage Tourism

In 1944, on the 6th of June and the long summer that followed, men from the world over came to Normandy to fight, to vanquish Nazism and to offer Europe newfound freedom. Memories of these events are forever engraved in the region's collective memory and, every year, it commemorates and pays homage to the veterans and civilians who lost their lives. Today, the many sites of remembrance, cemeteries, monuments and museums convey the same fundamental values: Reconciliation, Peace and Freedom.

Architectural heritage

The great diversity of Normandy's architectural heritage is an unrivalled characteristic inherited from its eventful past. A diversity of construction, traditional skills and creations that offers a vast array of marvels to discover and admire: medieval buildings, castles and manor houses, seaside resorts, post-war reconstruction, etc. Five of Normandy's villages are among the 'Most Beautiful Villages of France': Beuvron-en Auge, Barfleur, Le Bec-Hellouin, Lyons-la-Forêt and Saint-Céneri-de-Gérei.

Impressionism

Normandy is also the 'cradle of Impressionism'. It was in Le Havre that Claude Monet painted 'Impression, Sunrise' in 1872, hence giving a name to a brand new artistic movement. It was also in the heart of Normandy that this major pictorial movement, that was to continue to leave an indelible mark on the history of art, was to blossom and thrive. This instantaneous painting technique was born under Normandy's inimitable skies, along its bright foreshores and across its verdant valleys. The next edition of the Normandy Impressionist Festival will be held in 2020.

Breathtaking sites

Normandy offers a multitude of different landscapes: the countryside, the marshes, the bocage hedgerows, the coast, the heights, etc. The coast that runs from the Mont Saint-Michel to Le Tréport, via the Chausey islands, the Nez de Jobourg, Deauville, Honfleur, Le Havre and Etretat. The landscapes of the Perche and the Pays d'Auge areas, with their typical Normandy cows under the apple trees and horses in the prairies. But also the loops of the Seine, Suisse Normande, Bagnoles-de-l'Orne.

Sport and Nature

On foot, on horseback, by bike, yacht, microlight aircraft... Whatever your passion, whatever your pace, Normandy awaits you. 700km of marked and developed cycle routes. 3,000km of GR walking-hiking routes and 4 major horse-riding routes. Bungee jumping, climbing, kitesurfing, race tracks, parachuting, treetop adventure trails, etc. Normandy is also a region of thrills and spills. And it is a prime destination for golfing enthusiasts.
